SALES SLICK – REMOTE COMMISSIONING

TAKE THE FAST TRACK TO BUILDING COMMISSIONING

Get your project's building management system online faster with remote commissioning and startup services from Honeywell.

Save time, cost and hassle with remote commissioning

No one knows more about building automation technology than Honeywell. So, it only makes sense that our Global Engineering Services (GES) team has come up with the perfect way to reduce the time, cost and hassle of building commissioning and startup.

GES engineers can complete more than 60% of commissioning and startup activities remotely using secure online connections to help you:

- Reduce cycle time and meet critical deadlines
- Save cost and time spent travelling to remote sites
- Overcome challenges of finding qualified engineers
- Track and document every step in the startup process

Experience the Honeywell difference

Honeywell GES supports more than 1,600 projects a year for building engineering firms who come to us for help with their most important projects. We serve as an extension of your staff and provide you with the skills, experience and extra hands you need to get your projects off on the right track.
